OUR HISTORY, OUR PRESENT

The Department of Economics of the University of Campania "L. Vanvitelli" is a place devoted to education, research and innovation. It is always in contact with students, companies, institutions, professions along with local firms and organizations.

The Department was founded in 2012. It is in Capua in the ancient convent 'Santa Maria delle Monache'. The educational syllabus offered by the Department of Economics provides the students with a strong educational background aimed at understanding the current financial, economic, corporate, institutional and work transformations. Its identity is rooted in a multidisciplinary approach embracing economic, legal, digital, quantitative and managerial knowledge.

The Department is a dynamic and open community, which can create and share knowledge while promoting innovation in economic and institutional systems.

FROM CAPUA TO THE WORLD

The Department of Economics devotes a great deal of attention to the internationalization of education and research, which is included also in the Piano Strategico di Ateneo.

In particular, the Department promotes opportunities and projects aimed at encouraging students' and professors' mobility to foreign universities while involving an increasing number of Visiting Professors and foreign students.

These projects include, among others, Erasmus, Erasmus+ and other international cooperation programmes.

As far as the internationalization of research is concerned, the Department concentrates on research agreements with foreign Universities to promote scientific cooperation and attract outstanding Visiting Researchers.

Members of the Internationalization Committee:
Professors: Nicola SPAGNOLO, Giovanna D'ALFONSO, Diego MATRICANO

REGISTRATION (for foreign students only)

Since 2020 /2021 foreign candidates and /or visa applicants and students living abroad, who want to enrol in the university courses, have been required to fill in the online form, available at UNIVERSITALY (https://www.universitaly.it).

The application form, including a a passport, a passport photo, and other useful documents, will have to be validated by the Secretary's Office of the University of Campania "L. Vanvitelli", after checking the personal data of each candidate and his / her requirements to be admitted to the courses. All the documents certifying the students' educational background will be uploaded also in their original language. After checking all the documents, the secretary's office will send them to the Embassy where the students applied for their visa.

The Embassy will examine the application including the information concerning the course of study in order to approve the visa for purpose of study. The students will be asked to print the report and go to the Embassy to translate all the qualifications and for the Declaration of Value.
All the classes are delivered in Italian. Thus, before the beginning og the lessons, the students are asked to sit for an exam of Italian language, according to the procedure illustrated to them. Professor Manuela Lucchese and Professor Laura Foglia are responsible for the exam.

MENTORING

The Department of Economics offers the mentoring service. Its mission is to support the students during their university career, thus avoiding some possible career slowdown.

The mentoring service is divided into the following two main categories:

- Teaching mentoring, aimed at supporting the students with an individual study method

- Mentoring for complementary activities, aimed at providing any further information.

Mentors are available every day, from Monday to Friday, according to a timetable published regularly. The students can meet the tutors at their offices located in the Department.
